

CHECKERED FLAG

LEADERSHIP.COM™

What can we learn about Leadership, Teamwork, and Innovation from racing? More than you might think. Racing is an extreme sport that requires strong leadership, everyone working together as a team with a focus on innovation to win.

Get your team past the finish line by learning critical business skills from Keynote Speaker, Television Personality, and Desert Race Enthusiast,

Jack W. Peters

Jack has an exciting new business keynote speech and training program inspired by various forms of automotive racing.

Don't subject your company to another boring presentation. Give them training they will enjoy and remember so they can put their new skills immediately into action.

The payoff will be inspired leadership, motivated, engaged people, high functioning teams, and a trophy win of your own!
